the brave boys in blue. His speech powerfully aroused the old soldiers present, and they, in company with the friends of Harrison and Hovey, will reduce the Democratic majority in Dubois county to a minimum next Tuesday. The meeting ended by giving three rousing cheers for Harrison and Hovey.

FAYETTE COUNTY AWAKE.

A Monster Crowd Addressed by Messrs. Butterworth, Boutetle and Others.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal CONNERSVILLE, Nov. 1 .- To-day's demonstration witnessed the closing of the campaign in this county, so far as the Republicans are concerned, and it was one long to be remembered by the party in this part of the State. As early as 9 o'clock in the morning the streets were a solid mass of enthusiastic Republicans, and not a single delegation had arrived. Later every train brought large delegations, and every township in the county came in clubs and organizations, the one from Columbia township alone being more than a mile in length. The parade started at 11 o'clock, and every industry of the city was tastefully and elaborately represented. The procession was about six miles in length, and had in it fifteen bands. Prominent in the parade were unique representations, which included jog cabins with 1836 and 1840 voters; "Grover Fishing on Decoration Day," but the one that attracted much attention and caused no little merriment, was two sheep bearing this sentiment on a banner, "Lord Deliver Us from the Dogs and the Democratic Party." At 1 o'clock the speaking commenced at the City Hall Park, and was preceded by the singing of the Straughns Glee Club. Major Ben Butterworth was introduced and held his audience of ten thousand people for an hour and a half, in one of the most eloquent and logical addresses ever delivered in this part of the State. There were many Democrats in the audience, and his speech has already had its fruits, as more than one bave, to-night, surprised their friends by declaring their intention to vote for Harrison and protection. Mr. Butterworth was followed by Hen. Charles W. Boutelle, of Maine, in a very forcible speech. He dwelt principally on the disastrous effects of allowing the government to remain another four years in the control of the solid South. The meeting closed with a few fitting remarks by Hor. John S. Swift, of Massachusetta. The torch-light procession at night was an immense affair, and miles in length, far exceeding anything of the kind ever witnessed in this city, and at its close the Hon. B. F. Claypool, of this city, and J. N. Templer, of Muncie, addressed 2,000 people at the rink.

THE IRISH-AMERICANS.

Tney Invade the Precincts of "Little Ireland" and Capture the People by Eloquence. Special to the Indianapolis Journe.

BROWNSBURG, Nov. 1. - No such political meeting as that held at this place has ever been known in the history of this Democratic precinct of Hendricks county. From the fact that it is more distinctively Irish than any farming community in Indiana, it has long been known as "Little Ireland," and, heretofore, the voters of the precinct have held steadfastly to the Democratic faith. Yesterday's meeting showed plainly that the free-trade doctrine of the Grover Cleveland party was more than these loyal Irish-Americans will endure. Brownsburg was radiant with the national colors, the pictpre of the Republican candidate for the presidency was displayed from nearly every house, and thousands of men and women gathered in the grove year the village to hear that great orator, John F. Finerty, give an Irish-American's reasons for his support of the American principle of protection and opposition to free trade. Never before were so many young ladies seen dressed in the national colors; the patriotism of the mothers extended even to children in arms, who glowed in tastefully-made garments of red, white and blue,

Mr. Finerty, accompanied by fifty members of the Irish-American Protective Club, of Indianapolis, came over in carriages, their journey being a picturesque and triumphant march. which brought the farm people all along the line out to see the vehicles go by, gaily decorated with the stars and stripes and the green banner of Ireland. All along the way they were enthusiastically cheered, the greetings of the farm folks meeting like responses from the travelers. Quite a number of Irishmen from Indianapolis came by rail. The reception of all was most cordial. Scores of Irishmen of the neighborhood grasped hands with Mr. Finerty and the visitors, assuring them of their support of General Harrison and the principle of protecwith liberty caps to match.

The meeting at the grove was presided over by Patrick A. Ward, of Indianapolis, who introduced Mr. Finerty to an audience that gave him the closest attention and accorded hearty applause to the frequent unanswerable points made in his argument that the tariff policy that Savored England was not a policy to conduce to the welfare of this country.

Patrick J. Kelleher, of Indianapolis, followed in a ringing speech. Mr. Ward then made a brief talk. "Thirty-six or thirty-seven years ago," said Mr. Ward, "I saw the murder of eight or ten of my countrymen and countrywomen in Louisville, on a day that is known in our bistory as 'Bloody Monday.' That day was the result of a crusade that had been preached for months and months against us. American writers and speakers had lashed the popular fary of the American people of Louisvalle to do this terrible deed. And there was no one so conspicuous as the then editor of the Louisville Courier, W. J. Haldeman. Fellow-citizens of Irish blood, W. N. Haldeman, who on that occasion roused this popular fury by his writings and speeches against us to result in that terrible deed-that W. N. Haldeman is to-day the preprietor and inspirer, the manager of the Louisville Courier-Journal and the employer of Henri Watterson who wrote the free-trade platform upon which Grover Cleveland is running for the presidency. Can you vote for the man who stands upon the platform inspired by such men and by such in-nuepees!" [Cries of "No!" "No!"

The speech created a great sensation. The speaker continued, showing the consistent friendship of the Republican party for men of ill nations, and concluded with a enlogy of Gen. Harrison, the champion of protection, that brought great applause.

THE CAMPAIGN IN GENERAL.

Private Joe Cheadle Addresses a Large As semblage at Dayton.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LAPAYETTE, Nov. 1 .- The largest and most enthusiastic raily of the campaign in this congressional district occured to-night at Dayton. seven miles from this city, in honor of private Joe Cheadle, member of Congress, and a candidate for re-election. A special train of five cars filled with about four hundred of the citizens of Lafayette, two hundred of whom were veteran soldiers, left this city at 7 o'clock and arrived at Dayton at 7:30, where they were met by clubs from Mulberry, Clark's Hill, Stockwell, and surrounding townships, accompanied with bands. The procession was formed and marched through the principal streets to the public hall, which was filled to overflowing, where Mr. Cheadle spoke for an honr. When he was informed that the streets were packed with people anxious to hear him, he took a position on a platform in the street, last night. The Democrats, fearing the effect and addressed the assembled thousands, making one of the most convincing and impressive speeches of the campaign. eliciting round after round of applause. As remarked by the Courier, of this city, this afternoon, private Joe "has demonstrated his ability to take care care of himself. He is the ideal of the soldiers, and will go back to Congress with a largely increased mafority. He does not talk for himself, but is booming Harrison and Morton and the entire

Republican ticket.' Mr. Butter's Madison Meeting. Special to the Indianapolis Journal

Madison, Nov. 1 .- Hon. John M. Butler spoke at the court-house yesterday afternoon. Mr. Butler was introduced by Capt. A. D. Vanesdol. He immediately caught the attention of his audience, which grew larger and larger as he proceeded and delivered a speech of great force and pertinence. He began by tracing the reasons for the affinity between the British government and the British confederate Democracy. The Confederacy was established to extend slavery and establish free trade. Enghelped the Confederacy as far as it dared to do, and now that slavery is gone, is trying to help the confederate Democracy in establishing free trade. A number of extracts from English papers were read. and there contineness proved by the New York Herald. These articles declared Cobuen the author of free trade, and President Cleveland is its savior. The unfairness and injury of the Mills bill was then shown, and its discriminations against Northern interests and productions proved. The truth of the charge that the said he was a Democrat in 1684 but gave good | for $100.000

Democracy is a free-trade party was demonstrated from their platforms and the utterance of their statesmen. The uselessness of excluding the Chinese because their labor is cheap, if we admit the products of the pauper labor of Europe, was a strong point made.

A Fine Turn-Out at Montpeller. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MONTPELIER, Nov. 1 .- To-day a grand rally, fully equaling any of the many large Republican demonstrations held in this part of the State, occurred in this city. Thousands of people from adjoining towns and the adjacent country came in by rail. The delegations in the monster parade were forty big wagons, filled with enthusiastic voters hurrahing for Harrison, Steele, our Congressman, and the Republican ticket There were hundreds of gaily-decked teams drawing carriages, buggies and other vehicles. The famous huge log cabin, the finest piece of architecture of the kind in the State, was on wheels, and was occupied by the old people and their grand-children. Hiram Figle, a prominent farmer, had a Durham bull hitched to a cart and driven by his young son with bit and lines, and in the cart were several children and a large Cotswold sheep with appropriate banners. The large number of old soldiers in line was a marked feature, as were also the Carrie Harrison Club and glee club of Bluffton, Hon. Geo. W. Steele, Senator U. Z. Wiley, of Fowler, and E. B. McDowell, ex-recorder of Wells county, were the speakers. The last named has been a Democrat all his life until the present campaign, but he is now an enthusiastic worker for Harrison and the entire Republican ticket

Refuting a Falsehood.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal LEXINGTON, Nov. 1.—The following card from prominent business men of this place is a sufficient denial of the statement that the Rev. John Brazelton, of North Vernon, was mistreated by any one, while making a Prohibition address here:

A Free-Trader Unmasks Himself. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CAMBRIDGE CITY, Nov. 1 .- The local Democrats are indulging in a great love-feast to-day over the declaration of Samuel H. Hoshour for Grover Cleveland. Their joy is pardonable, however, as the support of Cleveland by any other than a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat is the rare thing here. The unterrified will doubtless make a great ado over their alleged convert, but they will also be careful to conceal Mr. Hoshour's true motive for joining that party. He is a confirmed free-trader, and takes his place under the Democratic standard as his true and most agreeable position. He has repeatedly expressed his views in this regard, "not," as he says, "that free trade would be the best thing for the masses, but because it would be the best thing for me personally." That seems to be exactly the Southern idea of "tariff reform." Mr.

Nelson and Wilton at Owensburg.

H. voted for St. John in 1884.

special to the Indianapolis Journal OWENSBURG, Nov. 1 .- A great rally was held at this place to-day and such an outpouring of Republicans is seldom seen in southern Indiana. Fully 5,000 people from Martin, Lawrence and Greene counties were addressed by Col. Thomas H. Nelson, of Terre Haute. Colonel Nelson is a favorite in Greene county, and with his usual eloquent and sound reasoning did the Republicans much good. One life-long Democrat of this place, after hearing Colonel Nelson's speech, renounced his party on account of its false promises and free-trade doctrines, and openly declared his intention to vote for Harrison and Morton The multitude was also addressed by Edward Wilton, a Clay county miner, who, from personal knowledge and association with laboring men, refutes the false statement made by the Democrats that the workingmen are against General Harrison.

Bridgland and Elam at Spencer. Special to the Indianapolis Journal

SPENCER, Nov. 1 .- The Republican rally today was the greatest political demonstration ever seen here. The parade, consisting of glee clubs, brass bands, drum corps, Tippecanoe clubs in canoes, representations of all kinds of manufacturing interests, furniture, stove, saw-mill, planing-mill, tinners, blacksmiths, wagon-makers, printing-office, and almost every device that could be thought of, appeared in the procession, which took more than an hour to pass a given point. Three hundred soldiers, wearing badges inscribed, "We vote as we shot," "For Harrison and Morton," was a feature. The crowd was enthusiastic from morning till night, and never seemed to tire of shouting for Harrison and protion. Colonel Bridgiand and Hon. J. B. Elam spoke to the people for some two hours, although not a fourth of the crowd could get within hearing distance.

Hon. James N. Tyoer's Effective Work. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

PERU, Nov. 1.-Hon. James N. Tyner, ex-Postmaster-general, spoke this evening to a large and enthusiastic Republican meeting at New Hope Church, adjoining Mismi and Wabash counties. The meeting was a huge sucsess. Lincoln League Clubs from this city and Wabash were in attendance. The speaker dwelt upon the tariff, and thoroughly overbauled the present Democratic administration. giving comparisons, facts and figures, which carried conviction with them. Mr. Typer is doing good, solid and effective work in this portion of Indiana, speaking nightly, and will con-tinue so to the eve of election. His canvass has embraced Marshall, Cass, Wabash and Miami counties.

Senator Yancey at Warsaw.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal WARSAW, Nov. 1.-Hon. S. T. Yancey addressed the finest meeting of the campaign here, to-night. The announcement that Sepator Yansey would speak filled the large opera-house, and hundreds could not get in. It is simple truth to say that Senator Yancey made one of the grandest speeches ever heard here in this or any other campaign. The people rose and sheered many times. Senator Yancey will always be in demand here, for he has done so much for the Republican party that it can never

Gen. Swift and D. L. Wilson at Batesville.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal GREENRBURG, Nov. 1 .- The Republicans of Batesville and vicinity, twenty miles from here, made arrangements for a rally yesterday and of an invasion of their stronghold, secured the Hon. W. S. Holman for the same evening. Gen. John F. Swift, of Boston, spoke for the Republicans in the afternoon, and D. L. Wilson at night. The torch-light procession numbered nearly 1,000 voters. Holman's followers were so few that he abandoned the meeting entirely after arriving there.

Rally at Freeport. Special to the Indiapapolis Journa

MORRISTOWN, Nov. 1.-There was a rally at Freeport, to day, and the largest crowd ever seen in the village was in attendance. Wagontrains, drawn by traction engines and led by martial music, brass bands and glee clubs were among the features. A. J. Beveridge was the speaker, and held the close attention of his audience in a logical and eloquent speech of two hours' duration. He was followed by Captain Beyers, D. L. Wilson and James McFadden.

Hon. John M. Butler at Lebason,

Special to the Indianapolis Journa. LEBANON, Nov. 1 .- Hon. John M. Butler addressed an audience of 2,000 people at the operahouse here, to-night, in his usual argumentative style. His statements as regards the tariff issue were clear and concise, and his arguments were convincing.

Hon. Henry Wilcox at Clayton.

His speech was eloquent and logical, and the rounds of hearty applause that he received from an enthusiastic andience told how well it was appreciated. The meeting adjourned with three cheers for Harrison and Morton.

Meeting at Freeport.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SHELBYVILLE, Nov. 1.-Two thousand people attended a grand rally to-day at Freeport, in the extreme northern part of the county. A long delegation came in the surrounding country, and made a fine demonstration. Able speeches were made by James B. McFadden, David L. Wilson, Captain H. S. Byers and George W. Kennedy, of this city. On Saturday a big meeting will be held at Morristown, to be addressed by Hon. Will Cumback, Hon. Stanton J. Peelle and Judge Cullen.

The Caevass in Eastern Illinois.

Special to the Indianapolis Journas MATTOON, Ill., Nov. 1 -The Republicans held a rally at Neoga to-day, with Gen. C. W. Pavey and Senator George Bacon as the speakers. Hon. H. S. Clark and others addressed the Republicans at Saulsbury this afternoon, and at Loxa to-night.

Mattoon Republicans are making great preparations to attend the closing Cullom rally in this city on Saturday. The Democrats will have their last rally to-morrow, with William R. Morrison as the principal speaker.

A Big Rally at Bloomfield.

Special to the Indianapolis Journas-BLOOMFIELD, Nov. 1 .- The Republicans of Greene and adjoining counties had the biggest rally here, yesterday, that was ever held in the county. Democrats admit that it was a brilliant success. With glee clubs, bands, log-cabins, free-trade and protection wagons, there were 6,000 people in procession. The speakers were the Hou. John M. Butler, Edward Wilton, the Brazil miner, Colonel Hallowell, of Kansas, and Colonel Yeoman, of Indianapolis, who addressed the people from two stands.

Other Meetings.

Specials to the Indianapolis Journal: PLAINFIELD, Nov. L-Captain Worrell spoke here last night to one of the largest audiences that has ever gathered at Guilford Hall. His speech was confined exclusively to the tariff question and was the best exposition of the subject ever heard here. He proved to the satisfaction of all fair-minded persons that the tariff duty does not necessarily increase the price of the article, but in most cases brings competition, and consequently lowers the price. He also proved that the Democratic party was a freetrade party, and used only Democratic evidence CRAWFORDSVILLE, Nov. 1. -- To-night the Republicans held a rally at the store of Patrick McManis, the court-house being used by the Democrats. The principal speaker was Joseph Murray, an Irish orator of national reputation. The Harrison and Morton Club, the drum corps and the colored club escorted the speaker to the place of meeting. A large crowd greeted the speaker, and he made a favorable impression upon his hearers by his able arguments.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 1 .- Manly D. Wilson, of Madison, the opponent of Wm. S. Holman for Congress in this district, came here to-day to mix around some. Small dedgers announced this afternoon that he would speak to night. The audience that greeted him at the rink was quite a surprise in numbers, showing that the people are not losing any interest whatever in MONTICELLO, Ill., Nov. 1.—The Republicans of southern Piatt county held a grand massmeeting and rally to-day at this place. The principal speaker was Hon. A. J. Lester, of Springfield. MADISON, Nov. 1 .- The Republicans had an enthusiascic meeting at Odd-fellows' Hall last flee Club, after which Judge J. Y. Allison, Hon. J. W. Lemcke, Captain Marcus R. Sulzer and Dillon Wilson, delivered stirring addresses, which evoked much applause. It was the best love-feast of the campaign.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 1 .- Ex-State Senator Dr. S. T. Yancy has just closed a campaign of this county, making three speeches in the out districts, where he has done the Republican party much good. His exposition of the Mills bill, his method of dealing with other issues, and his house to house canvass has had a stimulating effect.

KENNARD, Nov. 1. - An exceedingly large Republican rally was held here this afternoon. Fully 2,000 people were on the grounds. Hon. Thomas Hanna and Hon. Parke Daniels spoke in the afternoon and again at night, discussing the issues thoroughly and satisfactorily.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

A Reduction of Four Millions and a Half Buring October.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 .- The reduction in the public debt during October was $4,585,619, and for the first four months of the fiscal year, $28.294,620. The net cash in the treasury today is $74,491,969, against $96,444,845 on Oct. 1. The gold fund balance in the treasury has decreased about $8,000,000 during the past month, and to-day amounts to $191,074,575, and the silver fund balance, exclusive of $6,000,000 trade-dollar bullion, is $24,566,259, or $10,000, 000 less than a month ago. National bank depositories to-day contain $54,480,279, or about $3,000,000 less than on Oct. 1.

Government receipts during October were $31,966,203 against $31,803,172 in October, 1887. Customs receipts during the past mouth were $17,832,261, or nearly one million less than in October a year ago; internal revenue receipts were $11,500,000, or about a million more than in October, 1887; while the receipts from miscellaneous sources were $2,565,000, or $100,000 less than in October a year ago. Receipts from all sources for the first four months of the present fiscal year reach $129,500,000 against $134,131,-569 for the first four months of the preceding fiscal year, and as receipts in July, August, September and October are usually a little heavier than in any four months of a year, this points to a revenue of about $375,000,000 for the year. Expenditures for the first four months of the current fiscal year amount to $110,500,000 against $100,500,000 for the first four months of the preceding fiscal year. During October the department purchased $28,650,000 bonds-$18. 890,000 four-and-a-halfs, and $9,760,000 fours, at a premium of $4,518,457.

Thanksgiving Day Designated. WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The President to-day issued the following proclamation:

Constant thanksgiving and gratitude are due from the American people to Almighty God for His goodness and mercy which have followed them since the day He made them a Nation and vouch-afed to them a free government. With loving kindness He has constantly led us in the way of prosperity and greatness. He has not visited with swift punishment our shortcomings, but with gracious care he has warned us of our dependence upon His forbearance, and has taught us that obedience to His holy law is the price of a continuance of His precious gifts. In acknowl edgment of all that God has done for us as a Nation and to the end that on an appointed day the united prayers and praise of a grateful country may reach the throne of grace, I, Grover Cleveland, Presi-dent of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, instant, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed throughout the land. On that day let all our people suspend their ordinary work and occupations, and in their accustomed places of worship, with prayer and songs of praise, render thanks to God for all His mercies-for the abundant harvests which have rewarded the toil of the husband man during the year that has passed, and for the rich rewards that have followed the labors of our peopl in their shops and their marts of trade and traffic Let us give thanks for peace and for social order and contentment within our borders, and for our advancement in all that adds to national greatness. And, mindful of the afflictive dispensation with which a portion of our land has been visited, let us, turn thanks for all the blessings which we have received from the hands of our Heavenly Father, let us not forget that He has enjoined upon us charity; and on this day of thanksgiving let us generously rememper the poor and needy, so that our tribute of praise and gratitude may be acceptable in the sight of the Done at the city of Washington, on the 1st day of November, 1888, and in the year of independence the one hundred and thirteenth. In witness whereof I have hereunto signed my name and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

MORE DEMOCRATIC TRICKS

A Resort to Forgery in Order to Create Dissatisfaction Among Colored Men.

Democrats Offer Them $25 to Attend a Meeting at Anderson, but Fail in Their Attempt -Pensions Still Offered as Bribes.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Nov. 1 .- A scheme to turn the colored vote against the Republicans came to light here to-day, and is doubtless being worked by the Democrats all over the State. William Biggs, a well-known colored man, received through the mails, this afternoon, what purported to be an order from the Republican State central committee on the committeeman of this township for $5. Accompanying the order was a letter stating that the State central committee had placed in the hands of the local committeeman $5 for each colored Republican vote, and for him to present the order to the committeeman here and get the money. The colored voters, as well as the white voters, understand the scheme and it will not work. The object is to create dissatisfaction among tie colored voters. The Democrate think that when the order is presented and the holder is informed that there is no money here to purchase votes he will get raving mad and go and vote the Democratic ticket. The Republicans have no money to purchase votes, and are not conducting a campaign of corruption and fraud. The letters and orders are the worst kind of forgeries, gotten up by Democratic schemers, but are too transparent to dupe the colored people. The Democrats know their case is a hopeless one and are resorting to this manner of frauds and schemes to carry the State. The colored people of this city are all organized, and are solid for Harrison and Morton. Fully a dozen prominent Democrats of this city have deserted the rotten free-trade party within the past two weeks and

Special to the Indianapolis Journal ANDERSON, Nov. 1 .- This seems to be a year of Democratic blunders. For some time past the leaders of the Democratic party here have been scheming to get on the good side of our colored people and induce them to vote for Cleveland and Thurman-but to no avail. They almost despaired, but finally sent for E. E. Cooper, editor of the Freeman, and A. E. Manning, Clerk Sullivan's deputy, who arrived yesterday, and were met by a committee headed by "Jack" Brunt, delegate to the late St. Louis convention, assisted by Col. Mustard and Hon. A. Cleveland Davis, who escorted them to the Democratic headquarters, and afterwards to the Doxey House, where they were royally enter-tained, dined and wined by the committee. Great efforts had been made to secure the attendance of the colored people at their meeting this evening, going so far as to offer to one of their number $25 and the position of deputy masshal on election day. To another was offered the honor of presiding at the evening meeting if they would attend, but the colored people were not to be caught at the meeting which was presided over by Hon. Thos. B. Orr, chairman of the Democratic committee. Not a single colored person appeared except the two speakers, who dwelt for a time upon the uniform loving kindness always shown the colored people by the Democrats; how they had always oved them and so tenderly cared for them, and how they were now casting the Irishman aside.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal TIPTON, Nov. 1 .- Yesterday morning, N. W. Halley, of Columbus, O., and other government officials arrived in . this city, and are hunting up all old soldiers, and promising them a pension or an increase, with the proviso that they vote for Cleveland. They have blanks that they fill out, and the claimant signs it, and a guarantee is given them that their pensions will be forthcoming by the 10th of November. Some of the soldiers who have been approached are very indignant, and receive their propositions with disgust. Halley is a special pension agent at Columbus, and J. M. Metlin is in the mail service.

Threatening a Pensioner.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal CRAWFORDSVILLE, Nov. 1 .- John Whitacre, of Ripley township, Montgomery county who has heretofore been a Democrat, is now a Republican, and working for Harrison and Hovey. He has received several threatening letters, from Democrats, and can produce the letters as a proof of what he says they contain. Among them is a letter informing him that if he did not vote the Democratic ticket his pension should be taken away from him. Mr. Whitaere enlisted in Kentucky, and is disabled from wounds received in the war. He says that he will vote for Harrison, even if he never receives another cent of pension.

Denounced as Malicious Lies,

Special to the Indianapolis Journal CRAWFORDSVILLE, Nov. 1 .- The report sent by wire, to-night, to the Sentinel, that A. A. McCain, son of the editor of the Journal, of this city, and Jesse Green, son of Rev. J. W. Green, had come out for Cleveland and Thurman, is a malicious and willful lie, and on a par with the infamous falsehood by the same ligr, that the soldiers in line here on Tuesday night were boys in disguise.

Target Marker Killed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 .- A sad accident occurred at the rifle range, at Highwood, yesterday. Company F of the First Regiment, was at target practice. Several shots had been fired without being marked, when one of the men was sent to find out what was the matter. On reaching the rifle butts he was horrifled to find that one of the shots had struck the marker, a young boy named Bolde, killing bim instantly. Contrary to orders the boy was standing behind the target, when a bullet struck the round axis about three or four feet above him, and glancing down entered his left breast, coming out lower. The parents of the dead boy exonorate the members of Company F for all blame in the matter, it being an unavoidable accident.

Democrats Breaking the Agreement. To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: Some of the Democrat inspectors in this county are naming the judges without consulting the Republicans of the precinct. We believe this Democrat trick is to be played elsewhere as well as here, notwithstanding the agreement made by the chairmen of the Republican and Democrat State central committees.

BLUFFTON, Ind., Oct. 31. Judge Olds's Services.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: In the very excellent editorial on "The Supreme Court," in the Journal of the 30th inst., attention is called to the fact that Judges Coffey and Berkshire have served with great acceptability on the circuit bench. Judge Olds was elected judge of this (the Thirty-third) judicial circuit in 1884, and has discharged the duties thereof with universal satisfaction to all members of the bar, as well as to the people in general, regardless of politics.

COLUMBIA CITY, Oct. 31. The Blaine Family and the Catholics.

To the Easter of the Indianapolis Journal: I am an Irish-American, doing business here for an Irish-American industry. I find a rascally Irishman in to-day's Sentinel trying to injure Harrison by falsely accusing the Blaine family of hating the wife of James G. Blaine, jr., because she is a Catholic. This is ruffianism in

Four years ago I heard Peter Schwab, of Hamilton, O., saving to German Protestants: "How can you vote for Blaine? All his children are Catholics." On the same day I heard that same Peter Schwab ask Irish Catholics: "How can you vote for Blaine? He is a deserter from your religion." This ruffishly misrepresentation of Martin McDermot and Peter Schwab is a dirty Democratic trick and Blaine's children have, each and all, been educated at Catholic schools. Blaine's children, so far, are all married to Irish Catholics. Blaine has openly and above board defended the Catholic religion of his honored mother. Blaine's Blame's sons, or Blaine's daughters, never yet reproached anybody for being a Catholic. This detestable lie about the Blaine family hating "a beautiful Irish girl" because she is a Catholic, is a thumping Democratic lie. This dirty Democratic lie wil have no effect on the coming election. It's Ben Harrison and protection, or Cleveland and English free trade. It's the death of English industries or the destruction of American industries. It's work for American workingmen or for the workingmen of other nathe triumph of England. Irish-Americans whe try to justify their English free trade are just imitating a cat scraping a little dust upon his own dirt. Let Irish Democrats come out like men and acknowledge themselves what they are -co-partners of the Cobden Club, the drummers for England's trade. Let us hear no more of the anti-catholicity of the Blaine family. It has been a member of the Cleveland family (Rose Klizabeth) who has written the latest slander on our Catholio

Oracular.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: No President of the United States who was inaugurated in the fifth year of a decade of time, as civilized man keeps it, was ever reelected.

John Q. Adams, inaugurated 1825-one term. James K. Polk, inaugurated 1845-one term. Thos. Jefferson, inaugurated 1805-last term. Abraham Lincoln, insugurated 1865-last term.

The two latter Presidents being precluded by having served each a previous term. Grover Cleveland, inaugurated 1885-one term, by his own expressed desire; also, by the more durably expressed desire of the truly loyal citizens, a few days hence. Every President of the United States who was inaugurated in the ninth year of a decade was re-elected, and re-inaugurated in the third year of the succeeding decade, with one which we note in the proper place. George Washington, inaugurated 1789-1793. James Madison, inaugurated 1809-1813. Andrew Jackson, inaugurated 1829-1833.

Zachary Taylor, inaugurated 1849 -. Ulysses S. Grant, inaugurated 1869-1873 President Taylor is the exception; and ha having returned from a successful war with Mexico a popular hero, was elected to the presidency by the Whig party, almost idolized by the people, and mourned sincerely by the Nation when dead, would, had he lived, undoubtedly have been re-elected and reinaugurated in 1853. Since there is an unwritten clause in the unwritten spirit of American law and sentiment upon the tenure of the presidential office that precludes a third term, Cleveland cannot be inaugurated in 1893, hence cannot, as the fates in the above figures declare, must not and will not be reinaugurated in 1889. Cleveland's delusive luck has ended; having run against the barbed ends of a figure 5, it is rapidly perishing. The other horn of the figurative dilemma is straight, brilliant in hue, of flourishing growth and easily solved. Since Washington went, saw and conquered the British, and was made President; since Madison was made President, was there, saw and again conquered the British in the war of 1812; since Grant came, saw and again conquered the British and their Southern allies, and was made President-it now remains for the grandest son of his grandfather, Benjamin Harrison, who is here, who sees, and who will again in a more peaceable way to conquer the British and their free-trade allies. He will sail around the safe curves of the lucky 9, and down the line of illustrious Presidents, for he, honorably and honestly, can, must and will be made President and inaugurated in 1889. Further the oracle saith not, excepting this-his star is of the first magnitude and may always be found in the zenith; his ensign is his country's: his followers are legion and are ready for the fray.

The Woman and the Cow.

Boston Transcript. It is one of the cruel sarcasms of life that the thorn should always lurk at the side of the rose, the serpent beneath the innocent daisy and the cow in the midst of the shady copes or the inviting meadow. There be women who pretend that they are not afraid of cows; and perhaps there is a woman or two that really is not afraid of cows. And yet the woman who has no cowardice at al. might be impelled by prudence alone, by the mere knowledge of the cow's lack of intelligence, to keep out of the way of the horns. A cow may hook from sheer stupidity, without being in the least victous. She regards it as a beautiful and becoming thing to toss her borns about, and if, in tossing them about, they come in contact with a human being, the cow always seems much surprised that any one should resent it. The cow is at the same time one of the least intelligent and one of the most voracious of earthly creatures. It has been well said of the cow that perhaps she will not eat everything, but she will try to eat everything; and for the mere prospect of an eleemosypary apple core and without the smallest intention to hurt, she will follow a fleeing human female for miles. Any woman who wants to get data about the stupidity and greediness of cows, to assist her in a crusade against these animals, needs but to interview the first farmer's boy she meets. The boy will overflow with "points." He will tell with what innocent destructiveness the average cow saves her foor until the milk pail is billed and then calmly chucks it down into the snowy depths of the pail. He will tell how the cow, if she prefers to kick the pail over to stepping in it, always manages to give her leg the peculiar kind of a twist that sends the spilled milk straight into his lap. He will tell how, with no doubt the best intention to hit an annoying fly, she thumps him with savage violence on the side of the head with her tail. And he will tell how, when he rises up in his wrath and pounds the cow on her back with his milking-stool, he has his labor and the nervous wear and tear of indignation for his pains. The cow has not the smallest idea what the pounding is for, and will do the same thing next time. The cow is unteachable, incorrigible, densely ignorant, with no clear ideas except on the subject of fodder.

Little Girls Make Penoies Earn Dollars. Philadelphia Press.

The Sunday-school of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church, at Eighteenth street and Girard avenue, was entertained, last evening, by the Philadelphia Concert Quartet and by Miss Grancell, an elocutionist. The celebration was observed on account of the very successful termination of an effort to raise funds to alter the ceiling of the Sunday-school room. About a year ago a weil-known banker and broker became interested in the school, and finding it in need of funds he thought he would see what could be accomplished by applying business methods to the conduct of its money affairs. Last June two hundred and fifty bright, new pennies were distributed to the scholars and teachers who were asked to use them and account to the school for the profits obtained. Last evening it was announced that the 250 pennies had been converted into as many dol-

One little girl who spent her summer vacation in the country, bought a turtle with her penny and sold it in the city for 5 cents. This money she reinvested in turtles and still other turtles she caught herself for the Philadelphia market. Her fund grew until, by uniting it with the money obtained by other members of her class the children had enough to give a fair. For the 9 cents originally given to the class the sum of 843.50 was returned. Another girl invested her penny in a piece of ticking, with which she made a flat-iron holder. With the original capital of I cent she manufactured and sold holders until she acquired the sum of 89.

A Handsome Imported Tea Gown.

Philadelphia North American. One of the handsomest of the imported tea gowns this season is of white and gold brocaded satin, made with princess back and demitrimmed. There are huge pocket flaps on the hips made of velvet like those in a Louis XIV coat. The gown falls open at the throat to show a shirred vest and petticoat of white lace in designs of flower garlands looped with ribbons, the design being outlined on the lace in gold thread. The gown is brought together at the beit with an old Etruscan gold clasp, and all the edge of the front is corded and braided with gold. The wide sleeves have the same edging and braiding, and open over a full gathered sleeve of the lace held in at the wrist to a cuff of gold embroidered silk.
